NOT BAD PEOPLE

BRANDY SCOTT

Three friends, thirty years of shared secrets, one impulsive gesture … and a terrible accident. When friendship goes bad, someone has to pay. For fans of Liane Moriarty and Roslyn Harding.

Blackmail, secrets and shame abound as truths are revealed in this Liane Moriarty-esque debut about friendship and forgiveness – Who Weekly

'A fabulous portrayal of friendship and forgiveness' – Who Weekly

Moriarty-esque debut about divorce and the messy reality of blended families – Who Weekly

'Full of funny moments, this debut takes a wry look at parenthood, dry, conspiratorial feminist wit' – Sydney Morning Herald

'A diverting comic novel that bubbles along, buoyed by the author's truly original turn of phrase and great way with a gag makes for sparkling and heart-warming reading.' – Ben Elton

'Jessica Dettmann is a fine comic writer. She has an eye for the dry, conspiratorial feminist wit' – Sydney Morning Herald

'It's a toxic recipe for guilt trips, shame, obsession, blackmail and power games. They're not bad people. But desperate times call for desperate measures.'

Brandy Scott is a former senior producer on Radio New Zealand's Morning Report. Before her radio career she worked as a print journalist, including contributing from the Middle East to the Economist and serving as features editor for a daily national newspaper, Emirates Today. She is currently based in Dubai co-hosting a popular breakfast show called The Business Breakfast, on the UAE's only talk radio station, Dubai Eye 105.8.

BRANDY SCOTT

It's New Year's Eve. Three thirty-six women – Aimee, Melinda and Lou - best friends for decades, let off illegal Chinese lanterns filled with resolutions: for meaning, for freedom, for money. As the glowing paper bags float away, there's a bright flare in the distance. It could be a sign of luck – or the start of a complete nightmare that will upend their friendships, families and careers.

The day after their ceremony, the newspapers report a small plane crash – two victims pulled from the wreckage, one a young boy. Were they responsible? Aimee thinks they are. Melinda won't accept it, and Lou has problems of her own. It's a toxic recipe for guilt trips, shame, obsession, blackmail and power games.

They're not bad people. But desperate times call for desperate measures.
Sixty Seconds

Jesse Blackadder

A novel of hope.

Praise for In the Blink of an Eye (US title):

‘Absolutely captivating … This is a masterpiece of women’s fiction’ – Booklist (starred review)

‘Absorbing … Fast-moving but emotionally resonant’ – Kirkus reviews

The Brennan – parents, Finn and Bridget, and their sons, Jarrah and Toby – have made a sea change, from chilly Hobart to subtropical Murwillumbah. Feeling like foreigners in this land of sun and surf, they’re still just adjusting to work, school, and life in a sprawling purple weatherboard, when one morning, tragedy strikes.

In the devastating aftermath, the questions fly: What really happened? And who’s to blame?

Determined to protect his family, Finn finds himself under the police and media spotlight. Guilty and enraged, Bridget spends nights hunting answers in the last place imaginable. Jarrah – his innocence lost – faces a sudden and frightening adulthood where nothing is certain.

Sixty Seconds is a haunting, redemptive story about forgiveness and hope.

Jesse Blackadder is an award-winning author of three other adult and three children’s books, and a budding screenwriter. This story is inspired by an event that occurred in her own family.

The Girl on the Page

John Purcell

Two women, two great betrayals, one path to redemption. A punchy, powerful and page-turning novel about the redemptive power of great literature, from industry insider, John Purcell.

October 2018 | 400pp | 234x153mm | Paperback | ISBN 9781460756973

Amy Winston is a hard-drinking, bed-hopping, hot-shot young book editor on a downward spiral. Having made her name and fortune by turning an average thriller writer into a Lee Child, Amy is given the uncontrollable task of steering literary great Helen Owen back to publication.

When Amy knocks on the door of their beautiful townhouse in north west London, Helen and her husband, the novelist Malcolm Taylor, are conducting a silent war of attrition. The townhouse was paid for with the enormous seven figure advance Helen was given for the novel she wrote to end fifty years of making ends meet on critical acclaim alone. The novel Malcolm thinks unworthy of her. The novel Helen has yet to deliver. The novel Amy has come to collect.

From ultimate book industry insider, John Purcell, comes a literary page-turner, a ferocious and fast-paced novel that cuts to the core of what it means to balance ambition and integrity, and the redemptive power of great literature.

‘The Girl on the Page is a wildly beautiful, deeply human story and a love letter to books and writing … A deeply impressive book’ – Better Reading

While still in his twenties, John Purcell opened a second-hand bookshop – imaginatively called ‘John’s Bookshop’ – in which he sat for ten years reading, ranting and writing. Since then he has written (under a pseudonym) a series of successful novels, interviewed hundreds of writers about their work, appeared at literary festivals and on TV and been featured in prominent newspapers and magazines.

This Present Past

Traci Harding

The long-awaited prequel to Traci Harding’s much-loved Ancient Future series.

‘A stunning achievement of world-class fantasy’ – Kylie Chan on the Ancient Future series

December 2018 | 296pp | 234x153mm | Paperback | ISBN 9781460753637

In Ancient Wales, Gwion Bach, a simple woodman, becomes enchanted by the fiery beauty Creiryw during a brush with the Sons of the Long Knives. He earns Creiryw’s trust, and that of her mother, the goddess Keridwen, and is offered an apprenticeship at their castell in Llyn Tegid.

As Gwion discovers an enchanting new world of magic, the goddess is busy brewing a potion of prophetic insight and esoteric wisdom, destined for her monstruous son. However, an ill-timed accident provides an unexpected result. What transpires is an unforgettable shape-shifting battle that will spark rebellion and threaten to bring the downfall of all the kingdoms of Cymru.

In this thrilling and epic adventure spanning generations, Traci Harding finally reveals the origins of the Ancient Future series and how Gwion Bach rose from humble beginnings to become Taliesin, grand merlin and magician.

Traci Harding is one of Australia’s best loved and most prolific authors. Her stories blend fantasy, fact, esoteric belief, time travel and quantum physics, into adventurous romps through history, alternative dimensions, universes and states of consciousness. She has published more than 20 bestselling books and been translated into several languages.

The Love That I Have

James Moloney

For fans of The Book Thief, a powerful and heartbreaking story set during WWII that stays with you long after the final page is read.

June 2018 | 304pp | 234x153mm | Paperback | ISBN 9781460754634

Margot Baumann has left school to take up her sister’s job in the mailroom of a large prison. But this is Germany in 1944, and the prison is Sachsenhausen concentration camp near Berlin.

Margot is shielded from the camp’s brutality as she has no contact with prisoners. But she does handle their mail and, when given a cigarette lighter and told to burn the letters, she is horrified by the callous act she must carry out with her own hands. This is especially painful since her brother was taken prisoner at Stalingrad and her family have had no letters from him. So Margot steals a few letters, intending to send them in secret, only to find herself drawn to their heartrending words of hope, of despair, and of love.

This is how Margot comes to know Dietrich Kleinschmidt – through the beauty and the passion of his letters to his girlfriend. And since his girlfriend is also named Margot, it is like reading love letters written for her.

James Moloney is one of Australia’s most respected and awarded authors. All but two of his books have been shortlisted for or won CBC awards, and he’s also been awarded Family Awards for Children’s Literature, Children’s Peace Literature Awards, Multicultural Children’s Literature Awards and has titles selected for inclusion in the International Youth Library in Munich.

Bankrupt dairy farmer Tom Murray decides he'd rather sell off his herd and burn down his own house than hand them over to the bank. But something goes tragically wrong, and Tom dies in the blaze. His wife, Dawn, doesn't want him to have died for nothing and decides to hold a funeral procession for Tom as a protest, driving 350 kilometres from Yardley in country Victoria to bury him in Melbourne where he was born. To make a bigger impact she agrees with some neighbours to put his coffin on a horse and cart and take it slow - real slow.

But on the night of their departure, someone burns down the local bank. And as the morbid funeral procession passes through Victoria, there are more mysterious events. Dawn has five days to get to Melbourne before the police impound the coffin and force her to bury her husband.

Five days, five more towns, and a state ready to explode in flames …

Told with a laconic, deadpan wit, Taking Tom Murray Home is a timely, thought-provoking, heartwarming, quintessentially Australian story like no other. It’s a novel about grief, pain, anger and loss, yes, but it’s also about hope - and how community, friends and love trump pain and anger, every time.

PRAISE
'A tinderbox of a book, ready to burst into humour or heartbreak at any moment' – Felicity McLean

A man overboard, a murder and a lot of loose ends …

In Auckland 1951 the workers and the government are heading for bloody confrontation and the waterfront is on the line. But this is a war with more than two sides and nothing is what it seems. Into the secret world of rival union politics, dark political agendas and worldwide anti-communist hysteria steps Johnny Molloy, a private detective with secrets of his own.

Caitlin O’Carolan, a feisty young reporter, is following her own leads. Together they begin to uncover a conspiracy that goes to the heart of the Establishment – and which will threaten their own lives in the process.

Filled with memorable characters, including many colourful real-life figures from recent New Zealand history, Red Herring is the stunning debut from a vibrant new voice in fiction.

Jonathan Cullinane is an Auckland-based writer and film-maker. He is a graduate of the IIML creative writing course at Victoria University, Wellington.

On the outskirts of a small seaside town, Lia and her friend Anna work serious hours running their restored cafe. The summer season is upon them, and there are so many things to do. Anna is about to marry Lia’s twin brother, and Lia’s ex-boyfriend seems not to understand it’s over.

When a staggering stranger taps on Lia’s window near midnight and turns out not to be a serial killer, she feels it’s a promising sign. But the past won’t let them be, and when things turn nasty Lia must find some special resolve. Although it helps to have the town on your side.

The Pretty Delicious Cafe will remind you of those special, good things we love about living. And the food is great.

‘Incredibly fast paced with effortlessly flowing, witty dialogue’ – Better Reading

Bestselling NZ author Danielle Hawkins lives on a sheep farm near Otorohanga with her husband and two children. She works part-time as a large animal vet, and writes when the kids are at school and she’s not required for farming purposes. She is a keen gardener, an intermittently keen cook and an avid reader. Her other talents include memorising poetry, making bread and zapping flies with an electric fly swat. She tends to exaggerate to improve a story, with the result that her husband believes almost nothing she says.

At the mysterious Miss Lily's secret 'school', young women selected from Europe's royalty and highest families learn how to captivate a man – as a husband, or at a dinner party, in a salon or at a grouse shoot. For in 1914, persuading men is the only true power a woman has.

Sophie Higgs is not upper crust. She is colonial Australian, the daughter of a corned beef millionaire. But of all Miss Lily’s ‘lovely ladies’, Sophie may be the only one to understand Miss Lily’s true ambition: to stop the almost inevitable war between the British and German empires. And only Sophie may have the courage to carry out a desperate plan to block use of the most terrifying weapon of the war.

In Gilded Age New York, money buys everything. What is your price?

Rights Held: World English and translation
Rights Licensed: US, UK and Canada (Harper360)

In Gilded Age New York, Lachlan Macquarie, is in mourning – not only for her husband, but the loss of their shared dream to transform the penal colony into a bright new world.

Over the course of one long sleepless night on the windswept isle of Mull, she remembers her life in that wild and strange country; a revolution of ideas as dramatic as any in history; and her dangerous alliance with the brilliant, mercurial Francis Greenway, the colony’s maverick architect. A stirring, provocative and thrilling novel of passion, ideas, reforming zeal and desire.

Luke Slattery is a Sydney-based journalist, editor and columnist whose work appears in The Australian, The Age, the Sydney Morning Herald and The Australian Financial Review. Internationally he has been published at The New Yorker online, the LA Times, the International Herald Tribune, the UK Spectator and the US Chronicle of Higher Education. Mrs. M is his fifth book, and his first novel.

The wreckage of a downed WWII fighter plane is discovered in the forests near Russia’s Ukrainian border. The aircraft belonged to Natalya Arzavtseva, ace pilot and pin-up girl for Soviet propaganda, but the question of her fate remains unanswered. Was she a German spy who faked her own death, as the Kremlin claims? Her lover, Valentin Onlov, now a highly-decorated general, refuses to believe it. Lily, a young Australian woman, has moved to Moscow to escape from tragedy. She becomes fascinated by the story of Natalya.

When 18-year-old Kitty Carlisle’s father dies in 1838, her suddenly impoverished mother is left with little more than the possibility of her beautiful daughter making a good marriage. But when Kitty is compromised by an unscrupulous adventurer, her reputation is destroyed. In disgrace, she is banished to the colonies with her dour missionary uncle and his long-suffering wife.

In the untamed Bay of Islands, Kitty falls in love with Rian Farrell, an aloof and irreverent sea captain, but discovers he has secrets of his own. When shocking events force her to flee, she takes refuge in Sydney, but her independent heart leads her into a web of illicit sexual liaison, betrayal and death.

She was Maori, aged anywhere between three and five years old. Her dirty, matted hair hung past her shoulders, and sweet, heart-shaped little face was filthy.

When Kitty Farrell is offered a trinket by a street urchin, her impulsive response will change both of their lives forever. It is 1845, and after four years on the high seas with Rian, her wild Irish husband, she returns to the lawless Bay of Islands and a country at war. Kitty and Rian must battle to be reunited as they fight for their lives and watch friends and enemies alike succumb to the madness of war and the fatal seduction of hatred.

Rights Licensed: World English and translation

On the goldfields of Ballarat, vows are broken – can a wounded heart ever forgive? When the Yarrawee River bursts its banks, Rian Farrell, a dashing Irish sea captain and part-time gunrunner, disappears in the torrential flood. Believing herself a widow, the headstrong and passionate Kitty Farrell is left distraught. In her grief, she finally succumbs to the attractions of Rian’s long-time shipmate, Daniel, who has loved her from afar for many years. The resulting novel is a heady mix of powerful relationships and memorable, passionate characters, whose compelling story plays out against a skilfully depicted and utterly realistic backdrop of Old Ballarat.

Rights Licensed: World English and translation

When Kitty and Rian Farrell sail their schooner Katipo III into Dunedin Harbour in 1863, they are on rentseekers. The new Otago goldfields have attracted all-comers, including their friend Wong Fu from Ballarat, who has sent a message for their help.

To their surprise, Wong Fu reveals he is more than a mere fortune seeker; he is in fact the Cloud Leopard tong master of the Wong family, and his daughter, Bao, has been kidnapped and taken to opium-ridden China.

The Cloud’s Leopard’s Daughter takes us through dangerous and unpredictable shools of love, lust, greed and opium in search of two ferry but vulnerable women – puppets in other people’s calculated games.

MERCY STREET

Tess Evans

A tender, sweet and funny novel from bestselling novelist Tess Evans.

January 2016 | 352pp | 190x135mm | Paperback | ISBN 9781460751046

Mercy Street tells the heartwarming story of curmudgeonly pensioner George, who, since his wife’s death three years ago, is living a life that is no more than the sum of his ‘worn-out, washed out days’. While his marriage to Pen was a happy one, they never had children, so his life has narrowed to trips to the shop, occasional visits from his boisy sister Shirl and afternoons in the pub with his old mate Redgum.

But one day, everything changes when Angie, a nineteen-year-old single mother, unexpectedly saves his life. George grudgingly acknowledges his debt to her, and later, when Angie asks for a favour, he has no choice but to agree.

A novel about mistakes, accidental families, and the transformative power of love, from the bestselling author of Book of Lost Threads, Tess Evans.

Tess Evans’s first novel, the bestselling Book of Lost Threads, was published in 2010 and was shortlisted for the Indie Awards 2011 and longlisted for the 2012 International IMPAC Dublin Literary Award. She has since published The Memory Tree and Mercy Street. Previous to her writing debut, Tess taught and counselled a wide range of people: youth at risk, migrants, Indigenous trainees, apprentices, sole parents and unemployed workers of all ages and professions.

When Sara is gifted a beautiful antique chair as a wedding present, she is completely unaware that it is one of a unique pair. On the other side of the world, the chair’s twin is presented to a reclusive artist, Jon, as a birthday gift.

The two new owners are thrust into a mind-expanding adventure through the ages – medieval East Anglia, Scotland, France and India. In each instance they experience significant junctions in their lives past, to remember and redress ripples of karma they set in motion, and thwart an evil entity that still threatens their present day lives.

Their journey exposes a cursed love affair spanning one hundred years and ten thousand miles. Only the full realisation of their own shortcomings will prevent the tragic reoccurring outcome of their immortal bind.

Levi Horowitz isn’t a natural-born soldier. But in November 1938, Berlin is a volatile place for a Jew, and the talented young musician secures passage to Switzerland. Instead, Levi is taken to a Danish border checkpoint and from then on his war becomes secret, even from those he loves best.

In 2017, a recording emerges, showing Levi in 1945 and revealing a story in equal parts shocking and heroic. It is a journey that leads him face-to-face with Hitler, and into a position to change the final outcome of the war.

Levi’s War follows on from the enthralling historical novels The Keeper of Secrets and Rachel’s Legacy, this time tracing the story of the eldest Horowitz son. Whether you’re discovering Julie Thomas’s books for the first time, or making a return visit to the saga of the Horowitz family, Levi’s War will leave you utterly breathless.

Julie Thomas is the author of the highly acclaimed The Keeper of Secrets, Rachel’s Legacy and Levi’s War. She worked in the media in New Zealand for over 25 years in radio, television and film, before turning to full-time writing. She lives in Putaruru, New Zealand.

When Dr Kobi Voight is given a set of old letters by his mother he has no inkling that they will lead him around the world and deep into the tragic past of his family.

Within the letters – written in Hebrew and filled with delicate illustrations – lie the reflections of a young Jewish woman, forced to give up her baby daughter while fighting with the Resistance in Berlin. Who is the author, known only as ‘Ruby’, and what became of her child? And how does a priceless work of art, stolen by the Nazis, form part of the unfolding mystery?

As he explores Berlin and visits its war memorials and museums, an astonished Kobi begins to realise he is part of the story, too. From the Holocaust to the present day, across continents and oceans, Kobi’s journey will ultimately lead him to the truth about his family’s past – and his own identity.

Julie Thomas worked in the media for over 25 years in radio, television and film, before turning to full-time writing. The Keeper of Secrets was originally self-published as an ebook titled The Secret Keeper, and sold more than 30,000 copies and received many five-star reviews.

Phar Lap first... daylight second. It became a familiar refrain from racecallers as the great horse tore up every race track and record, becoming the people’s champion in 1930s Australia and abroad. For those closest to the mighty stallion it would be the ride of their lives, on and off the track, as careers, relationships and fortunes were made and lost in just a few years of unrivalled glory.

Award-winning author Kelly Ana Morey takes the reader beyond the racetrack histories and the popular mythologies, and, for the first time in novel form, brings to life the characters and the times that turned Phar Lap into the legend he remains to this day.

Equal parts tragedy, triumph, thriller and mystery, Daylight Second has a heart as big as Phar Lap himself.

Kelly Ana Morey is a novelist of Pakeha and Maori (Ngati Kuri) descent. Her first award-winning novel, Bloom, was published in 2003, followed by a second novel, Grace is Gone, in 2004. On an Island, With Consequences Divine was released in 2007. She received the Todd New Writers Bursary in 2003 and the inaugural Janet Frame Literary Award in 2005.

When football star Nick Harding hobbles into the Black Salt Cafe the morning after the night before, he is served by Anna, a waitress with haunted-looking eyes and no interest in footballers, famous or otherwise. Nick is instantly drawn to this exotic, intelligent girl. But a relationship between them risks shame for her conservative refugee family and backlash for Nick that could ruin his career.

Meanwhile, Nick's sister, Lily, is struggling to finish her medical degree. When she meets Toby, it seems that for the first time she is following her heart, not the expectations of others. Yet what starts out as a passionate affair with a man still grieving after his wife's death slips quickly into dangerous dependency.

Scarred by tragedy, each in their own way, these warm, hopeful couples must overcome prejudice and heartbreak to prove just how much they will give for beautiful messy love.

'The first time she is following her heart, not the expectations of others.'

'Not since Melina Marchetta's Looking for Alibrandi has an Australian author presented the cross-cultural challenges of new Australians quite so beautifully. Beautiful Messy Love is my pick for 2017 book of the year' – AusRom Today

"I thought this was terrific - passionate, sexy and wise, with a continual ebb and flow of emotion and utterly persuasive characters. I loved it" – Rosie de Courcy, UK editor of author Maeve Binchy

Mel is living the dream. She's a successful GP married to a charming anaesthetist and raising a beautiful family in their plush home in Perth. But when she boards a flight to Melbourne, her picture-perfect life unravels. Seated on the plane she meets Matt, and for the first time ever she falls in love.

What begins as flirty conversation quickly develops into a hot and obsessive affair with consequences that neither Mel nor Matt seem capable of facing. As the fallout touches friends and family, Mel's dream romance turns into a nightmare. She learns that there are some wounds that never heal and some scars you wouldn't do without.

Love at First Flight will take everything you believe about what true love is and spin it on its head.

'Epic, sensuous, brimming with wildlife, love, beauty, babies, ill deeds, revenge and unions – illicit and conondoned – Jarulan by the River is a glorious story of passion and homecoming.'

A year ago, a devastating bushfire ripped Annie’s world apart – killing her grandmother, traumatising her young daughter and leaving her mother’s home in the mountains half destroyed. Annie fled back to the city, but the mountain continues to haunt her. Now, drawn by a call for help from her uncle, she’s going back to the place she loves most in the world, to try to heal herself, her marriage, her daughter and her mother.

A heart-wrenching, tender and lovely novel about loss, grief and regeneration, Ache is not only a story of how we can be broken, but how we can put ourselves back together.

Eliza Henry-Jones’s remarkable debut novel, In the Quiet, was shortlisted for the 2015 Readings Prize for New Australian Fiction, shortlisted for the NSW Premier’s Award and longlisted for the ABA and Indie Awards.

PRAISE
‘Eliza Henry Jones’ second novel demands that you slow down, take a breath and settle in … This beautifully written novel … is recommended for those who loved Stephanie Bishop’s The Other Side of the World or Alice Munro’s short stories. ISBN 9781464075004

Sydney, 1929: three people find themselves washed up on the steps of Miss Da Maurier’s bohemian boarding house in a once grand terrace in Newtown. Ari is a young Jewish man, a pogrom orphan, who lives under the stern rule of his rabbi uncle, but dreams his father is Houdini. Upon his hand he bears a forbidden mark – a tattoo – and has a secret ambition to be a magician. Finding an injured parrot one day on the street, Ari is unsure of how to care for it, until he meets young runaway Lily, a glistening girl after his own abracadabra heart. Together they form a magical act, but their lives take a strange twist when wild card Billy, a charming and dangerous drifter twisted by the war, can no longer harbour secret desires of his own.

The Bird’s Child is a fear of sleight of hand. Birds speak, keys appear from nowhere, boxes spill secrets and the dead talk. This is a magical, stunningly original, irresistible novel – both an achingly beautiful love story and a slowly unfurling mystery of belonging.

Sandra Leigh Price lives in Sydney. She graduated from the Australian National University, Canberra, with a Double Major in English Literature and Drama, and co-established a small theatre company before moving to Sydney to pursue a career as an actor, then turning to writing.

A stunning debut from a talented new voice in historical fiction.

The Last Days of the Romanov Dancers

Kerri Turner

 Petrograd, 1914. A country on a knife edge. The story of two people caught in the middle – with everything to lose …

A stonning debut from a talented new voice in historical fiction.

Valentina Yershova’s position in the Romanov’s Imperial Russian Ballet is the only thing that keeps her from the clutches of poverty. With implacable determination, she has clawed her way through the ranks to soloist, utilising not only her talent, but her alliances with influential rich men that grants them her body, but never her heart. When Luka Zhirkov – the gifted son of a factory worker – joins the company, her passion for ballet and love is rekindled; putting at risk everything that she has built.

For Luka, being accepted into the company fulfils a lifelong dream. But in the eyes of his proletarian father, it makes him a traitor. As war tightens its grip and the country starves, Luka is increasingly burdened with guilt about their lavish lifestyles. While Luka and Valentina’s secret connection grows, the country rockers toward a revolution that will decide the fate of every dancer.

For the Imperial Russian Ballet has become the ultimate symbol of Romanov indulgence, and soon the lovers are forced to choose: their country, their art or each other …

Melbourne, 1942: War has engulfed Europe and now the Pacific, and Australia is fighting for its future. For spinster Flora Thomas, however, nothing much has changed. Tending her duff office job and beloved brother and father, as well as knitting socks for the troops, leaves her relatively content. Then one day a stranger gives her brother a white feather and Flora’s anger propels her out of her safe life and into the vineyards of the idyllic Mildura countryside, a member of the Australian Women’s Land Army.

As the Land Girls embrace their new world of closeknit community and backbreaking work, they begin to find pride in their roles. More than that, they start to find a kind of liberation. For Flora, new friendships and the singular joy derived from working the land offer new meaning to her life, and even the possibility of love. But as the clouds of war darken the horizon, and their fears for loved ones—brothers, husbands, lovers—fighting at the front grow, the Land Girls’ hold on their world and their new-found freedoms is fragile. Even if they make it through unscathed, they will not come through unchanged.

To forge a new life she must first deal with her past…
1871. Adelaide Greaves and her young son have found sanctuary in the Australian town of Maiden’s Creek, where she works as a postmistress. The rough Victorian goldmining settlement is a hard place for a woman—especially as the other women in town don’t know what to make of her—but through force of will and sheer necessity, Adelaide carves out a role.

But her past is coming to find her, and the embittered and scarred Confederate soldier Caleb Hunt, in town in search of gold and not without a dark past of his own, might be the only one who can help. Can Adelaide trust him? Can she trust anyone?

When death and danger threaten—some from her past, some borne of the Australian bush—she must swallow her pride and turn to Caleb to join her in the fight, a fight she is determined to win…

From Pearl Harbour to the shores of Sydney, a family secret that spans generations could unite a family – or destroy it.

Honolulu, Hawaii 1941. On the evening of her sixteenth birthday party, Catherine McGarrie wants nothing more than for the night to be over, even though the opulence of the ballroom befits the daughter of a US Navy Rear Admiral.

Then she meets Charlie, a navy officer from the other side of the tracks, a man her parents would never approve of.

As rumours of war threaten their tropical paradise, Catherine and Charlie fall in love. But the bombing of Pearl Harbour on 7th December 1941 changes their lives forever.

Seventy-five years later, added by age and painkillers, Catherine tells her granddaughter Kit her story and reveals the tale of a long-lost treasure. Can Kit uncover the secret and reunite her family? Or will the truth tear them apart?

Emily Madden covets books like some women covet shoes and handbags (although she has a decent collection of each of those too). While she reads anything and everything, stories that touch the heart and uplift the soul are what she loves the most. Emily lives in Sydney with her two girls and husband. She’s a coffee lover and can often be found writing at her local haunts.

Reserved high school teacher Keely Mitchell is more than ready for her holiday on the west coast of Australia, so when a medical emergency turns over all her plans and an intervention by a kind stranger finds her recovering in a Margaret River vineyard, she is at first downcast.

Keely had wanted to put recent traumatic events out of her mind, and recuperating alone in a stranger’s house won’t help that. But slowly the lovely food, spectacular wine and beautiful landscape of the area begin to work their spell. As Keely makes friends with the locals and adapts to the rhythms of the vintner’s yeat, she starts to feel part of the scenery too, particularly when her artwork and jewellery-making somehow find a home at Levallier Dell Wines.

But clouds are on the horizon in the shape of a warring father and son, interfering family friends and a rival in love. Keely didn’t mean to fall for anyone, but she can’t help her feelings for clever, passionate wine-maker Flynn Levallier. Sadly, it seems he only has eyes for the beautiful Kar, daughter of a rival wine-maker. Can what Keely feels be real? Or is it just something in the wine?

A cruise, no matter how magical, can’t change your life… can it?

Clever, charming dressmaker Ketty Clift is embarking on her final cruise from Sydney before she must make serious changes in her life. Supported by the ship’s all–powerful maitre d’ Carlos, she has a mission: transform the lives of those who join her at her dining table every evening. Not only can Ketty turn Cinderellas into princesses with her legendary style–eye, but she has a gift for bringing people together.

But this trip is different. As the glamour and indulgence of the cruise takes hold, and the ship sails further away from Sydney towards the Pacific Islands, it becomes clear that her fellow travellers – a troubled family, a grieving widower and an angry divorcee determined to wreak revenge on her ex – are going to be harder work than usual.

Suffused with gentle humour, this warm, uplifting story shows the importance of being true to yourself and how important to real happiness are faith, generosity and learning to let go…

Shanghai, 1925: Leaving behind the loneliness and trauma of her past in country Australia, Annie Brand arrives to the political upheaval and glittering international society of Shanghai in the 1920s. Journeying up the Yangtze with her new husband, the ship's captain, Annie revels in the sense of adventure but when her husband decides the danger is too great and sends her back to Shanghai, her freedom is quickly curtailed. Against her will, Annie finds herself living alone in the International Settlement, increasingly suffocated by the judgemental Club ladies and their exclusive social scene: one even more restrictive than that she came from. Sick of salacious gossip and colonial condescension, and desperate to shake off the restrictions of her position in the world, Annie is slowly drawn into the bustling life and otherness of the real Shanghai, and begins to see the world from the perspective of the local people, including the servants who work at her husband's Club.

Emma Harcourt has worked as a journalist for over 25 years, in Australia, the UK and Hong Kong. In 2011, she completed the Faber Academy Writing a Novel course and The Shanghai Wife was born: Emma lives in Sydney with her two daughters. She is currently working on her second novel.

With her dreams of dominating Melbourne’s fashion scene in tatters, Nella Martini has returned to the last place she wants to be – Torrente Blu, the market garden inherited from her late nonna. She just needs to clean up the property, sell it quickly, and avoid run-ins with her neighbour: surly Adrian Tomasone. But when Nella comes across her nonna’s cookbook things start to change. The place, with its endless tomato plants and gallons of olive oil in storage, gets under her skin, as does Adrian with his passion for this life. But her dreams have always meant being anywhere but here – haven’t they? Or has the right place been here all this time?

For Esta Feliciano in the 1950s, the right place was her Italian village. But in search of a better life than war-torn Italy has to offer, her husband has moved Esta and their daughter to this alien country, settling on a small, flat piece of land that he calls Torrente Blu. Can Esta come to grips with Italy has to offer, her husband has moved Esta and their daughter to this alien country, settling on a small, flat piece of land that he calls Torrente Blu. Can Esta come to grips with the harsh Australian sun and strange culture?

When Sophie Copinn’s love life turns sour, a trip to her hometown in Far North Queensland is the perfect time for her to take stock of her future. There, two weeks before she turns thirty, she finds a bucket list from her teenage years. Most of the challenges are fun, although one thing on the list scares the hell out of her: she is to reveal a long-held family secret — the very reason she ran away eight years ago.

A road trip home is Dylan Stone’s chance to escape the shady operations he has uncovered at the Sydney tattoo parlour he runs. Surrounded by the landscape and loved ones he’s missed so fiercely, Dylan starts to think that maybe it’s time to make his homingpermanent. But there is still the unresolved matter of Sophie — the woman who broke his heart and skipped town so long ago.

Dylan and Sophie try to keep their distance but they can’t deny the intense chemistry between them. But if Sophie tackles the scariest challenge on her list, will it push Dylan away forever?

And will her family ever be the same again?

When it came to climate change, Natalie Isaacs used to think it was someone else’s issue. After all, what can one person do to make a difference? Then she cut her electricity bill by 20 per cent and saw how much money and pollution she’d saved. Feeling empowered, she embraced action instead of apathy and changed her life. She has never looked back.

In Every Woman’s Guide to Saving the Planet, Natalie shares her journey from climate bystander to international campaigner. Now the founder and CEO of the globally recognised climate action organisation 1 Million Women, Natalie explains:

- why climate change is the biggest issue of our time
- why women, who make around 85 per cent of household spending decisions, are incredibly powerful when it comes to taking climate action
- how to take action in your own life
- how to cut waste of everyday consumables such as energy, food, fashion or single-use plastic
- why stuff can’t make us happy and why less truly is more
- how to inspire your family, friends and community to take climate action.

With handy toolkits packed full of practical how-to’s, Every Woman’s Guide to Saving the Planet will get you started on your own climate action journey. Natalie’s message is simple: never underestimate the power you have to fight the climate crisis. You just need to act.

Against all the odds, Australia held a royal commission into the banking and financial services industries. In revelations rocked the nation and reverberated around the world. Few people were more instrumental in bringing about the commission than journalist Adele Ferguson.

In Banking Bad, Ferguson tells the full story of the power imbalance, toxic culture and cover-ups. She describes the long fight for justice by whistleblowers, victims and political mavericks, and she looks at the outcomes of the royal commission - the falls from grace, the damaging hiatus, the scrapping assessment of the regulators, and the colossal compensation bill - an estimated $10 billion.

PRAISE
"Ferguson's pacy writing style gives the book the air of a corporate thriller." – Michael Rowland, ABC News Breakfast
"[Adele] recounts a colourful cast of bullies, thieves and crooks being rewarded extraordinary sums to rip off customers." – Money Magazine

With more than 20 years’ experience, Adele is one of Australia’s most awarded journalists. She has received eight Walkley awards, including a Gold Walkley for her joint Fairfax Media and Four Corners program Banking Bad; two Gold Quill Awards, including one for her exposé of CBA’s CommInsure; two Gold Kennedy Awards; a Logie; and the Graham Perkin Journalist of the Year award.

Australia lost two prime ministers in three years in a period of political bloodshed that took the nation’s government to the brink of collapse - until an extraordinary election changed everything. Venn is the secret history of the brutal power play to lead the government. It sheds new light on the fall of Australian prime minister Tony Abbott, the rise of Malcolm Turnbull and the electrifying leadership spill that brought parliament to a halt in August 2018. In a day-by-day account, it reveals the strategy Scott Morrison used to defeat his opponents and claim ultimate authority.

David Crowe reported these events for the Sydney Morning Herald and The Age as they unfolded. Using more than one hundred interviews with the participants, he tells an epic story of revenge, hatred and the ruthless pursuit of power. And he asks whether the future holds any peace when the part is so full of poison.

PRAISE
‘David Crowe is both wise guide and sage interpreter in this gripping journey through the angry years of Australian politics.’ – Chitm Uhlmann
‘Venn identifies David as the standout successor to Paul Kelly as Australia’s contemporary political historian.’ – Paul Matthews

Planes were rarely seen above the small Central Otago sheep-farming town of Rautaproperty in the 1940s. Yet as a young boy, Tom Enright had a fascination with the skies that quickly developed into a longing to become a pilot. He joined the RNZAF as an engineer in 1951, and was sent to England at just 16 to attend the Royal Air Force college in Cranwell. Returning to New Zealand to join the Vampire fighter squadron in Ohakea, Tom became a famed member of the RNZAF aerobic team. Later he became a flying commander at Wigram air base, before captaining a Sunderland flying boat to isolated communities in the vast South Pacific, often to the upper limits of the plane’s endurance.

From the near-catastrophic opening of Wellington airport to the upper limits of the plane’s endurance. As automation becomes the way of the future, and in the aftermath of Ethiopian Airlines flight 302 and Lion Air flight JT610, the story of QF72 raises important questions about how much control we relinquish to computers and whether more checks and balances are needed.

Aotearoa New Zealand was founded on stargazing. It was celestial navigation that brought the first people here, and it was tatai arorangi, Maori astronomy, that helped people survive once they arrived. There is no better place on Earth to view the brilliance of other worlds. Covering eclipses, aurorae, comets and constellations, backyard observatories, traditional stargazers and world-class astrophotographers, this is the unique story of Te Whanau Mara, our family of light - the night sky that glows above us all.

Katrina Lawrence first fell in love with Paris at the age of five, and since then her roads have continually led her back to this most beautiful city, the City of Lights. Telling us the story of why Paris continually fascinates her, Katrina also gives us a mesmerising journey around Paris’s most spectacular sights and most beguiling nooks and crannies, as well as a profound musing on Paris and its people – from feminism to femininity, politics to perfume, and of course, those stylish Parisiennes who captivate us, from Catherine de Medici and Coco Chanel to Brigitte Bardot and Catherine Deneuve, making Paris Dreaming the ultimate chic, personal and charming memoir. Studded with fascinating anecdotes and intriguing tidbits of trivia, Katrina shares the lessons Paris has taught her. Written with warmth, gaiety, elegance and very real insight, Paris Dreaming is a book not just for women who love Paris, but for anyone in search of that elusive good life.

Katrina Lawrence has specialized in beauty journalism for more than 15 years. After starting her career as the beauty and lifestyle editor of Cleo magazine, she then went on to help launch SHOP Till You Drop magazine, where she held the reins as deputy editor/beauty director for several years. She has also written for titles including Madison, Harper’s BAZAAR, Cosmopolitan and Sunday Life. She lives in Bondi Beach with her husband and two sons, but her spiritual home will always be Paris, which she has visited countless times (seriously: she has lost count) since the age of five.

When the 12 young members of the Wild Boars soccer club walked into a Thai cave with their coach, they expected to be out by nightfall. A birthday cake waited in the fridge for one boy, another boy had a tutoring class. They had rope and torches but no food. Then a sudden monsoonal downpour flooded their route out. They were trapped – imprisoned in a cave said to be haunted by a mythical broken-hearted princess. So began the greatest search-and-rescue mission in living memory: People from across Thailand, and soon from across the world, joined hands to find the boys and get them out.

Liam Cochrane is the Australian Broadcast Corporation’s Southeast Asia correspondent, based in Bangkok. He spent more than two weeks in Mae Sai covering the cave rescue, one of those weeks stationed outside the cave entrance in the mud with daily contact with divers and other key players. Liam began his career in journalism in Cambodia in 2004, as a reporter, then managing editor of the Phnom Penh Post and has worked in radio and print journalism.

First Dog on the Moon's Guide to Living Through the Impending Apocalypse and How to Stay Nice Doing It

Steve Austin isn't your average dog trainer. In this feel good, yarn-laden memoir he shares amazing stories from a career of rescuing and training shelter dogs to become a crack force of K9s, culminating in his work for the 'Young Diggers' program, which pairs specially trained dogs with returned soldiers suffering from post-traumatic stress disorder, depression and more, with astonishing results.

A down-to-earth bloke with a gift for telling a great yarn, Steve Austin trains extraordinary, elite dogs for vital missions internationally in the fields of drug enforcement, environmental protection and much much more. From drug detection to penguins, cane toads and even truffles, and from the icy conditions of Macquarie Island to the LAPD, if you need something detected, Steve's got a dog for that. And a yarn to tell!

When Steve Austin was just 13 he trained his dog, Sooty, to entertain crowds outside the pub. That's when he first realised he had an affinity with dogs – and a unique talent for training them. Today his elite dogs work for Australian environmental and defence forces, the Young Diggers, the World Wildlife Fund and the Cheetah Conservation Fund, the LAPD and many more. He lives in north-west Sydney – when he isn't travelling the world training dogs.

The life of a country vet is far from glamorous. There's no such thing as a nine to five working day. You're out in all weathers, at all times of the day and night. More often than not you're covered in smellly muck, working against the clock to save animals in critical situations – whether that's helping a cow in distress birthing unexpected triplets, saving a crook dog that's eaten a bucket-load of sheep fat, or a horse needing a risky operation far from the surgery clinic, or a cat that you resuscitate against all the odds. Best mates Anthony Bennett and James Carroll wouldn't have it any other way. Calving Straps and Zombie Cats is the adventures of two young vets dealing with all creatures great and small. With memorable characters, some heartstopping moments, and a healthy dose of humour, these stories of life behind the scenes in a busy mixed country practice will touch your heart as well as tickle your funny bone. You'll be hooked till the very last page. Best mates and business partners, Anthony Bennett and James Carroll run three vet practices on the NSW South Coast. Stars of the observational documentary Village Vets Australia, their days are spent managing dairy cattle, sheep, pigs, goats, alpaca and horses, as well as the myriad small animals that visit the clinic every day. Their first book Village Vet was published in 2015.

No man is an island. But lots of strange men live on them. In more than a decade of international reporting, Eric Campbell has covered wars, famines, presidences and revolution. In the islands he surveys here, he finds microcosms of society, complete with long-lasting blood feuds, hidden wars, bizarre histories; all the vanities, hopes and rivalries of great powers. Wry, witty and clever, with a wonderful eye for the absurd, Eric Campbell is the Bill Bryson of the small, odd forgotten places around the world and what they tell us about the human condition.

A son is very important in Chinese society,’ he had said. ‘To lose one is careless. The ancestors would be angry.’

Intrigued by stories of a son given away by Mao and his then-wife during the Long March, and mystified by the ‘official’ explanation of the boy’s fate (Whereabouts unknown – No further information available), Richard Loseby sets out alone across China in search of answers. Tracing Mao’s own revolutionary journey, the author encounters the extraordinary realities of a new revolution, one that is transforming an ancient culture into a modern economic powerhouse.

At the heart of the journey is the hunt for an elusive truth about a brutal and traumatic time in the nation’s still raw history. Who was that abandoned boy? Might he still be alive? Would he even want to be found?

Richard Loseby was born in Port Moresby, Papua New Guinea in 1963. He grew up in Australia before moving to New Zealand at the age of eight. In 1980 he ventured into advertising as a copywriter, working in London from 1985 to 1993 before returning to Auckland where he now works at major agency Ogilvy & Mather. He has two previously published and acclaimed travel books. Richard is married with two children.

Dulcie Bodsworth was the unlikeliest serial killer. She was loved everywhere she went, and the townsfolk of Wilcannia, which she called home in the late 1950s, thought of her as kind and caring. The officers at the local police station found Dulcie witty and charming, and looked forward to the scones and cakes she generously baked and delivered for their morning tea.

That was one side of her. Only her daughter Hazel saw the real Dulcie. And what she saw terrified her.

Dulcie was in fact a cold, calculating killer who, by 1958, had put three men in their graves – one of them the father of her four children, Ted Baron – in one of the most infamous periods of the state's history. She would have got away with it all had it not been for Hazel.

Hazel Baron lives in country New South Wales with her husband Bill, the man she married to get away from her mother. They have four children, six grandchildren and have fostered 100 children.

Janet Fife-Yeomans is an award-winning journalist, currently the chief reporter with The Daily Telegraph. She has written or co-written seven earlier books, including a biography of Heath Ledger.

Easter Sunday, 1902, deep in the Carnarvon Ranges a police constable and station manager are slain then later incinerated, their remains stuffed into saddlebags. Accused of the ghoulish crime are two members of the bushranging Kenniff gang, fast gaining notoriety as Queensland’s equivalent of the Kelly gang. Yet the murders are a bold escalation from the petty fraud, horse stealing and cattle duffing the gang is known for. Starving and exhausted after three long months on the run, the brothers are finally captured, and the wheels of justice start to turn.

The story of the Kenniffs has fascinated Mike Munro for decades - ever since he found out these last bushrangers were his family. If not for Mike’s grandfather illegally changing his name from Kenniff to Munro, this major figure in Australian television would be known to us as Mike Kenniff. But who were Mike’s relatives? What drove them to their life of crime? And were the brothers really responsible for such terrible murders?

Have you noticed that as you moved from teenage to adulthood your food tastes change? That what used to work for you as a retired woman of a certain age? That you can’t eat the same dishes as your friend and feel good? That your energy dips dramatically if you eat the wrong foods?

Like the calendar year, the body has its seasons. In her new book, The Wholesome Cook: Recipes for Life’s Seasons, Martyna focuses on bio-individualism – the recognition that we are all physiologically different – and offers 160 endlessly flexible recipes that can be adapted to support your individual health and well-being, no matter what your age or stage of life.

All recipes emphasise seasonal wholefoods, fresh fruit and vegetables and pasture-raised meat. Every recipe is refined sugar, gluten and dairy, the 100 recipes in this book cater for many food intolerances.

Bianca Slade of the blog Wholefood Simply has a passion – to recreate traditional desserts, treats, snacks and sweets to suit her wholefood ways by minimising processed ingredients and maximising raw and natural ingredients. And because they avoid refined sugar, gluten and dairy, the 100 recipes in this book cater for many food intolerances.

Bianca keeps her ingredients and methods simple without compromising on taste, and her delicious recipes have been accompanied by photography good enough to eat have garnered Wholefood Simply a huge following. From her moister take on chocolate brownies to Nut Quite a Snickers Slice, you’ll find a host of quick and easy recipes for delectable bliss balls, bars, cookies, cakes, ice creams and smoothies, as well as classic sweets reinvented, from peppermint creams to all kinds of fudge. Delicious, simple, easy – and healthy, too!

Inspired by a wish to make sweet yet wholesome treats for her family, Bianca Slade started creating delicious recipes based on whole foods, which she shared with friends. As demand grew, she started a successful blog, Wholefood Simply. She now has over 270,000 social media followers from over the world and has self-published several cookbooks. Bianca’s delectable recipes are accompanied by her own mouth-watering photographs. She lives in Ballarat, Victoria, and has three young children.

Hayley Maudsley is a rural mum, living and working on an isolated Queensland wheat property with her husband and three kids. While having a cuppa and a homemade slice during her ‘smoko break’ one day, thinking about what to cook for dinner, she turned to Facebook for some inspiration. Instead, what Hayley found was picture perfect, beautifully styled dishes using ingredients she had no access to.

That day she decided to start her own Facebook page - sharing her favourite family recipes, ideas for feeding the kids, and plenty of useful tips for around the house. Now more than 120,000 people follow Hayley online, and what they love most about her recipes is that they are incredibly simple to make, using ingredients that are easy to get your hands on, and every dish turns out just the way you’d hoped – delicious!

Two bestselling books later, the Monday Morning Cooking Club returns with a stunning third book which is the result of a two year search for recipes from the global Jewish diaspora – those much loved dishes that have nurtured a community and have been feeding family and friends for years. It’s Always About the Food is a delicious and rich, story-filled snapshot of cooking, which gathers together the very best recipes from the global Jewish community, reflecting the Jewish people’s love for food and cooking, and the importance of the family table.

This book is all about the food, flavours and the most delicious family recipes – not from a restaurant or a test kitchen, but from the heart of the home.

In 2008, six women from Sydney’s Jewish community came together as friends every Monday morning to cook their favourite recipes and talk about food. They wanted to share the stories and recipes of their community, inspire people to preserve their recipes, and give all the profits to charity. They published The Monday Morning Cooking Club in April 2011, and have never looked back.

Olive Cotton was one of Australia’s pioneering modernist photographers, whose significant talent was recognised as equal to her first husband, the famous photographer Max Dupain. Together, Olive and Max were an Australian version of Frida Kahlo and Diego Rivera or Ray and Charles Eames, and the photographic work they produced in the 1930s and early 1940s was bold, distinctive and quintessentially Australian.

Intriguing, moving and powerful, this is Olive’s story, but it is also a compelling story of women and creativity - and about what it means for an artist to try to balance the competing demands of their art, work, marriage, children and family.

Helen Ennis was formerly Curator of Photography at the National Gallery of Australia (1985-1992), going on to become Director of the Centre for Art History and Art Theory and Sir William Dobell Chair of Art History at ANU School of Art & Design (2014-18). She is currently Emeritus Professor.

At 15, Lofty’s voice broke, giving him a unique gift that paved the way for his future.

At 18, Paul Wood thought he had lost everything. He had committed an act he knew would send him to prison for many years. To a young man like Paul, it might as well have been for the rest of his life.

Plunged into a nightmarish world of extreme violence, solitary confinement, gang allegiances, drugs, vindictive wardens and regular stabbings, Paul spent the next 11 years confined in some of New Zealand’s toughest jails.

Based on an account of his experiences he wrote while still inside, How to Escape from Prison chronicles Paul’s road to redemption and a new life as a doctor of psychology, helping others strive to fulfil their potential and develop the resilience to flourish, even in adversity. This is a gripping read about a man who sank to the depths of despair, before scaling the heights of true freedom.

‘Paul’s transformation is unbelievable. We are sometimes brought up to think a zebra can’t change its stripes. Paul Wood’s story is proof that anyone can change. It gives you great courage that you can do anything.’ – Sir John Kirwan

‘My deepest wish is that reading this book makes you want to do cool stuff, make plans, launch that business, pack your bags, shave your head, ride that horse, date that hottie, apply for that job, chuck that party - and, most of all, get your girls out, whatever that means for you.’

‘The way for his future.

At 15, Lofty’s voice broke, giving him a unique gift that paved the way for his future.

At 18, Paul Wood thought he had lost everything. He had committed an act he knew would send him to prison for many years. To a young man like Paul, it might as well have been for the rest of his life.

Plunged into a nightmarish world of extreme violence, solitary confinement, gang allegiances, drugs, vindictive wardens and regular stabbings, Paul spent the next 11 years confined in some of New Zealand’s toughest jails.

Lachlan Macquarie is credited with shaping Australia’s destiny, transforming a harsh, foreboding penal colony into an agricultural powerhouse and ultimately a prosperous society. He also helped shape Australia’s national character. An egalitarian at heart, Macquarie saw boundless potential in Britain’s refuse, and under his rule many former convicts went on to become successful administrators, land owners and business people.

However, the governor’s ambitions for the colony (which he lobbied to have renamed ‘Australia’) brought him into conflict with the continent’s original landowners, and he was responsible for the deaths of Aboriginal men, women and children, brutally killed in a military operation intended to create terror among local Indigenous people.

So, was Macquarie the man who sowed the seeds of a great nation, or a tyrant who destroyed Aboriginal resistance?

A.B. ‘Banjo’ Paterson is rightly recognised as Australia’s greatest storyteller and most celebrated poet, the boy from the bush who became the voice of a generation. He gave the nation its unofficial national anthem ‘Waltzing Matilda’ and treasured ballads such as ‘The Man from Snowy River’ and ‘Clancy of the Overland’, vivid creations that helped to define Australia’s national identity.

But there is more, much more to Banjo’s story, and in this landmark biography, award-winning writer Grantlee Kieza chronicles a rich and varied life, one that straddled two centuries and saw Australia transform from a far-flung colony to a fully fledged nation.

Extensively researched and written with Kieza’s trademark verve, Banjo is a lively and captivating portrait of this truly great Australian.

In his biography, The Price of Fortune, one of the nation’s richest and most psychoanalysed men opens up in an attempt to make sense of his rollercoaster life and to tell the human story of being James Douglas Packer. Of how his wealth, charm and intellect took him to such exciting places. Yet how sometimes his trusting the wrong people and his rash actions cost him his friends, his health and, most importantly, his reputation on the global stage – and how he is now working on getting it back.

Damon Kitney has spent more than two decades in financial journalism, including 16 years at the Australian Financial Review in a variety of writing and editing roles in Sydney, Melbourne, Canberra and Perth, including five years as a deputy editor of the newspaper. Since 2010 he has been the Victorian business editor at The Australian, specialising in writing the untold personal stories of the nation’s richest and most private people.

It’s hard to remember a time when Osher Günsberg wasn’t on TV – he was always there, beaming a big smile, with a questionable haircut. But while everything looks great from the outside, the real picture has not always been quite so sunny. Osher has always known he has a different brain to most other people. Struggling with anxiety, panic attacks and weight issues since he was young, he tried for years to drink away the anxiety and depression. On antidepressants since 2007, he ended up unemployed, divorced, suicidal and certifiable on the other side of the world – yet somehow he managed to put the broken pieces back together and make a life for himself again. He lives with a mental illness – and he’s come to terms with it to live an authentic, rich and fulfilling life.

A revealing, raw, funny and heartfelt memoir.

Osher Günsberg is one of Australia’s most recognisable media personalities. He first came to the country’s attention as the face of Australian Idol and the voice of Australia’s largest weekly radio countdown, Take 40 Australia. He continues to be the host of The Bachelor and The Bachelorette on Channel Ten. Osher is a keen advocate for mental health awareness and shining a light on Men’s Mental Health. He is also the co-creator and host of Movember Radio for the Movember Foundation, and a director of the board of SANE Australia.

Thirty years after Hogg and Hunt collaborated on the now-legendary Angel Gear: On the Road with Sam Hunt, the pair have decided to throw caution to the wind and proceed without doctors’ certificates, to create an older, possibly wiser twin to that earlier book. A backstage pass to the private side of one of our most public people, Sam Hunt: Off the Road is a wild, hilarious, no-holds-barred book about the non-stop life and poems of a man New Zealand thinks it knows, until now.

Part conversation, part story-telling, part poems, it’s also a fascinating look at the non-stop life of one of the country’s best-known poets. Packed with some new.

A powerful, inspiring memoir from the founder of the Asylum Seeker Resource Centre, which argues that by putting community, love and compassion at the centre of our lives, we have the power to change our world.

I hope you take from this book the message that we all matter. That there is a place for all of us. That once we know our own voice, live the values close to our hearts and follow our dreams, we can be unstoppable. Hope is only exhausted if we forsake ourselves, otherwise no one can take hope away from us. It is both our sanctuary and our destiny to live a life with love, belonging, connections and community.

A powerful, heartfelt and inspiring memoir of how love, compassion, kindness and courage can transform our communities and ourselves. The Power of Hope shows us in times of darkness, both personal and political, that if we stand as one we are powerful.

Kon Karapanagiotidis is both an urgent and passionate battle-cry. In That F Word: Growing up Feminist in Aotearoa, award-winning columnist, musician and activist Lizzie Marvelly tells the story of New Zealand’s feminist roots, exposes our gender imbalances, challenges the traditional expectations in New Zealand society and celebrates the indomitable spirit of Kiwi women. She also shares her first-hand experiences of abuse, sexism and trolling, while shining a light on how young women are raised from birth and how they’re conditioned in our schools.

JAMES CAFFIN

The gripping story of a New Zealand soldier who escaped the clutches of a prisoner-of-war camp to join the Yugoslav freedom fighters during the Second World War.

April 2019 | 192pp | 234x153mm | Paperback | ISBN 9781775541363

Written with all the gritty detail of a Patricia Cornwell novel, the intrigue of Making a Murderer, and the horror of True Detective, this is a brilliantly told collection of true stories from a rural pathologist, including the high-profile Lundy murders.

Told with great skill, full of suspense, cliff-hangers and bizarre and surprising twists in the narrative. Most of the examinations are at crime scenes, and there’s a real sense of mystery and adventure as Dr Temple-Camp heads off, often in the middle of the night, into the unknown.

A forensic pathologist is, in Dr Temple-Camp’s own words: ‘Someone who cuts up the dead to find out why they died.’ Dr Temple-Camp’s stories of spontaneous combustion, a gruesome murder right beneath the control tower at Palmerston North Airport, a mysterious death in an historic homestead, rare diseases, drug-mules, devil-worshippers, cot-deaths, land-mark cases, exhumations, are all from our own backyard. This book will shock and entertain, make you squirm but also occasionally pull at the heartstrings.

Originally from South Africa, Dr Temple-Camp spent time in war-torn Rhodesia examining the dead and dying. He came to New Zealand in the 1970s and has since worked on over 2000 cases.

CHINA BABY LOVE

JANE HUTCHEON

How one woman turned her life upside down to help those who needed it most – half a world away.

May 2017 | 320pp | 234x153mm | Paperback | ISBN 9780733334337

In 1997, Linda Shum was appalled after reading an article about Chinese babies being abandoned and dying because of a lack of human contact. A year later, on her first ever trip overseas, she visited an orphanage filled with sick and dying children, the hidden human aftermath of China’s One Child Policy.

For almost two decades, while China busily developed into a wealthy economy, Linda has travelled back and forth from her home, raising money to better care for the orphans. Battling distrusting government officials and a constant lack of funds, Linda has saved countless little lives, while also establishing a school in the orphanage and a foster care program.

Jane Hutcheon began her career in radio and television in Hong Kong and has witnessed ground-breaking news unfolding over her 30 years as a broadcast journalist. She has served as the ABC Correspondent in China, the Middle East and Europe. Jane is a keen observer of Chinese society and history. She directed and wrote the 2013 documentary From Mao to Now for ABC News and published her first book From Rice to Riches in 2003.

Drawing on a 20-year interest in the Middle East, Lyons has had extraordinary access – interviewing everyone from Israel’s former Prime Ministers to key figures from Hezbollah and Hamas. He’s witnessed the brutal Iranian Revolutionary Guard up close. He’s confronted Hamas officials about why they fire rockets into Israel and Israeli soldiers about why they fire tear gas at Palestinian school children.

By telling the story of his family travelling through the region, this book is extremely readable and entertaining, full of humour, colour. It is sometimes dazzling in its detail, sometimes tragic. Readers can smell the wonderful markets of the Middle East and feel the fear of what it is like to be blindfolded and have your hands bound with electrical cord.

John Lyons is a leading journalist. For six years he was The Australian Middle East correspondent, based in Jerusalem with his wife, Sylvia Le Clezio, and son, Jack. He is a former editor, and New York correspondent, of The Sydney Morning Herald and Washington correspondent for The Australian. While in Jerusalem he and Sylvia won three United Nations Human Rights Awards, and a Walkley for their contribution to 'Stone Cold Justice', a special investigative report for ABC TV’s Four Corners on the children of the West Bank.

From a great writer, three great stories about conscience and consequence. This is the story of three men – a doctor, a soldier and a judge. They are men of rare achievement. The doctor has the gift of saving others but not himself. The soldier disobeys orders and abandons his command post in a bid to die with his men. The judge cares more to uphold a principle than save himself from ruin. All three defy convention in a way that exacts a price.

Sir James McNeish is one of New Zealand’s greatest writers. In his life he published nine novels, 14 works of non-fiction, four plays and numerous articles and essays. Several of his books are classics – Loveluck, Dance of the Peacocks – and his psychological investigation of the Bain murderers (The Mask of Sanity, 1997) was one of the major books on the topic. He has been awarded all major New Zealand writing prizes and fellowships, and was made a Knight Companion in 2010 for services to literature.

His death in November 2016 came soon after he delivered the final pages of last book, Breaking Ranks.

Ellyse Perry is among the all-time cricket greats - she’s the only player, female or male, to represent Australia in both cricket and soccer World Cups, with her international debuts in both sports at age 16, and was the youngest ever Test debut at the age of 17… and she is just getting started. From the lessons of a high-performance athlete’s career to appreciating the small things in life - this inspiring illustrated book, for fans of Ellyse Perry, features stories and reflections from her childhood and career on the themes of dreaming, belief, work, resilience, acceptance, opportunity, balance and perseverance - and their importance in everything we do.

Currently the world’s top ranked women’s all-rounder, Perry has solidified herself into the national cricket team across all formats. In the 2017 Women’s Ashes series, Ellyse scored 213 runs not out, the highest individual score by any Australian in a Women’s Test match. During the 2018 ICC Women’s World T20, Perry became the first cricketer for Australia, male or female, to play in 100 Twenty20 International matches. She was also the inaugural ICC Women’s Cricketer of the Year in 2017, and was Australia’s prestigious Women’s International Cricketer of the Year (Belinda Clark Award) in both 2016 and 2018.

Sir Jack Brabham was unique in the world of motor racing. He was the boy from Sydney who took on the elite of motor racing and won three F1 world championships, the last one in a car not only built by his own Brabham company, but with an Australian engine he’d helped develop. To those who saw him on the podium, Jack Brabham might have seemed glorious and triumphant. But he was also a man of secrets. He shunned the media, rarely using ‘two words when none would do’. He kept vital information from his competitors, his team mates - and his family. He led to unrivalled success. It led to wealth too, much of it hidden around the world. But it also left a trail of hurt and bewilderment…

In this first ever book-length biography of Jack Brabham, his extraordinary accomplishments are laid out with new commentary from his rivals, colleagues, employees and long-time engineering partner Ron Tauranac. And, with the help of his sons Geoffrey and David, it represents the first major attempt to unravel the enigma who became known as ‘Black Jack’.

Tony Davis has worked as a book author, publisher, magazine editor and newspaper writer. He has written about cars, on and off, for nearly thirty years. Ákos Armont, is a writer, director and co-producer of the major international feature documentary Brabham.

Unpredictable and unforgiving, the Tasman Sea is one of the most hostile stretches of water in the world. An Australian adventurer attempted to kayak across in 2007, disappearing without a trace. In 2018 Kiwi adventurer Scott Donaldson spent two months alone at sea to achieve a world first. It was his third attempt, having fallen a heartbreaking 80 kilometres short in 2014.

Donaldson’s world first is an inspirational story of dogged perseverance, true Kiwi grit and relentless endurance.

Scott Donaldson is a former triathlete, Coast-to-Coast competitor, Ironman coach, mentor and competitor in a myriad of sports. He began as a swimmer to strengthen his lungs, after having life-threatening asthma as a child. Scott’s son also has asthma, and his father died aged 42 from a heart attack, and so Scott has made fitness a life priority. Formerly from Rotorua, Donaldson moved to Coffs Harbour in Australia to organise the campaign to cross the Tasman solo in a kayak.

A rich and compelling story of the highs and lows, the colour and passion of the sport of kings. Winx: Biography of a Champion traces the rise and rise of this extraordinary racehorse and captures the colour, excitement and nail-biting moments of her ascent to the top of the world. It’s a tale of an exceptional horse, but also of the people behind her – of their hopes, their dreams, of a whole lot of hard work and, sometimes, hard cash.

Trevor Marshallsea is a much-travelled author, journalist and racing lover. He is fortunate enough to be able to recall the precise moment he was captivated by the turf as a boy, when a horse with the wonderful name of Wotta Krakka sprouted wings in the straight and won. It sparked a fascination that led to his first job as a racing writer, before becoming AAP’s foreign correspondent in Beijing and London, along with stints in Canada and Hobart. After six years as chief cricket writer for the Sydney Morning Herald, and several years as a freelance writer, humourist, screenwriter, and frustrated punster, he returned to his first love, co-authoring the autobiography of Black Caviar trainer Peter Moody, A Long Way from Wyandra. He lives with his wife and two daughters in Sydney.

THE SYDNEY HOBART YACHT RACE

ROB MUNDLE

The Sydney Hobart Yacht Race is the story of one of the world’s greatest sporting challenges.

December 2019 | 384pp | 234x153mm | Paperback | ISBN 9780733339820

In its 75th year, the Rolex Sydney Hobart Yacht Race has become an icon of Australia’s summer sport, ranking in public interest with such national events as the Melbourne Cup, the Australian Open tennis and the Boxing Day cricket test. No regular annual yachting event in the world attracts such huge media coverage as does the start on Sydney Harbour.

The Sydney Hobart Yacht Race: A biography of a sporting icon is the story of one of the world’s greatest sporting challenges, an event where men and women from all walks of life are inspired and challenged by the beauty and power of nature. The 628-nautical mile course is often described as the most gruelling long ocean race in the world, a challenge to everyone who takes part. A team effort as much as a personal challenge where one mistake can lead to defeat, while success can deliver national and international acclaim.

Bestselling author Rob Mundle has competed in the race on three occasions and reported on it for both newspapers and television for more than fifty years. The pinnacle of his many writing achievements is the international bestselling book Fatal Storm, the powerful story of the tragic 1998 Sydney Hobart race.

Rob is the author of 18 books including his maritime history bestsellers – Whig, Flinders, Cook, The First Fleet, Great South Land and Under Full Sail. His book on the tragic 54th Sydney Hobart Yacht Race, Fatal Storm, became an international bestseller. It is published in six languages and has sold well over 200,000 copies – a remarkable achievement for this category in publishing.

The much-anticipated autobiography of the greatest Australian cyclist of all time. Famous in the sport for his meticulous preparation and for being an athlete who prided himself on his ability to leave it all on the road, Evans writes about the triumphs, the frustrations, the training, the preparation, the psychology of the sport, his contemporaries, the legends, and his enduring love of cycling.

This book will put you on the bike alongside Cadel as he recounts the races and the moments that mattered − as he places in the top ten in six Tours de France and becomes Australia's first, and only, Tour de France champion; as he claims the points jersey at the Giro d'Italia; and as he wins some of the world's greatest races. This is an autobiography of a cycling legend that will become a much loved classic.

The name of Cadel Evans is one that will forever be celebrated in Australian sport. Cadel Evans is a former Australian professional racing cyclist who won the 2011 Tour de France. He is a four time Olympian and the first Australian to win the UCI ProTour and the UCI Road World Championships.

The compelling story of DAVID ISAACS
OF DEATH
MINISTERS
DEFEATING

If you shuffle a deck of cards what are the odds that sequence has occurred before? What is the connection between dice, platonic solids and Newton’s theory of gravity? What is more random: a dice tower or a number generator? Can you actually employ a strategy for a game as basic as Rock-Paper-Scissors?

These are questions that are thrown up in games and life. Games involve chance, choice, competition, invention, randomness, memory, stand-offs and paradoxes – aspects that designers manipulate to make a game interesting, fun and addictive, and players try to master for enjoyment and winning. But they also provide a fascinating way for us to explore our world; to understand how our minds tick, our numbers add up, and our laws of physics work.

This is a book that tackles the big questions of life through the little questions of games.

With short chapters on subjects from the history of games to the Prisoner’s Dilemma, to Gödel’s theorems, to making better choices, Gametek is fascinating reading anyone who wants to explore the world from a new perspective – and a must-read book for serious designers and players.

The history of vaccination is rich with trial, error, sabotage and success. It encompasses the tragedy of lives lost, the drama of competition and discovery, the culpability of botched testing, and the triumph of effective, lifelong immunity. Yet with the eradication in the fifth century BC to the present day and thrills us how a globally unique flora has been used for food, medicine, shelter, spirituality and science. From Jurassic giants to botanical oddballs - these are our wonderful native plants.

The story of how James Cook charted Aotearoa New Zealand has long been regarded as one of the most extraordinary achievements in the history of cartography. First Map: How James Cook Charted Aotearoa New Zealand tells the human story behind the creation of Cook’s famous chart, following the progress of his six-month circumnavigation of New Zealand and piecing the map together as the narrative on H.M.B. Endeavour unfolds. It is a story of courage, dogged perseverance and Cook’s extraordinary skills as both cartographer and seafarer. Scenes from Tessa Duder’s evocative text are beautifully recreated by award-winning illustrator David Elliot in this exquisite large format edition. Published to coincide with the Tuis - Encounters 250 commemoration of James Cook’s 1769-70 journey around New Zealand.

The history and use of New Zealand’s native plants.

A guide and gift book in equal measure, this treasure of a book pays homage to New Zealand’s native plant species. The Meaning of Trees tells the story of plants and people in Aotearoa New Zealand. Beautifullly illustrated with botanical drawings, paintings and photographs, it shows us how a globally unique flora has been used for food, medicine, shelter, spirituality and science. From Jurassic giants to botanical oddballs - these are our wonderful native and endemic plants, in an exquisite hardback edition.

Most of us today rarely see a dead body. In nineteenth century Sydney, when health was precarious and workplaces and the busy city streets were often dangerous, witnessing a death was rather common. And any death that was sudden or suspicious would be investigated by the coroner. Henry Sheil was the Sydney City Coroner from 1886 to 1889. In the course of his unusually long career he delved into the lives, loves, crimes, homes and workplaces of colonial Sydney’siders. He learnt of envies, infidelities, passions, and loyalties, and just how short, sad and violent some lives were. But his court was also, at times, instrumental in calling for new laws and regulations to make life safer.

Catie Gilchrist brings to life a city of laneways and hotels, morgues and circuses, and hopes and dreams cut short, to tell the story of life and death in colonial Sydney.

Catie Gilchrist is a Research Affiliate in the History Department at the University of Sydney. She has an MA in History from the University of Glasgow (1997), an MA in Women’s History from the University of London (1998), and a PhD in convict history from the University of Sydney (2004).

That’s nothing. Pressure is having a Messerschmitt up your arse’ – Keith Miller, when asked if he felt under pressure while captaining the NSW cricket team.

Numerous heroes of Australian cricket have also proved themselves on the battlefield, from Gallipoli to Vietnam and beyond. Among them are some of Australia’s most illustrious cricketing names: Donald Bradman, Keith Miller, Keith Carmody, Jack Pingleton and, in more recent years, Doug Walters. In this sport/history page-turner, veteran sports journalist Greg Growden tells their extraordinary stories of bravery, hardship, courage and human endeavour.

Greg Growden is one of Australia’s leading sports journalists. For more than three decades he was a senior sportswriter with The Sydney Morning Herald. He spent many summers sitting next to Bill O'Reilly, covering Sheffield Shield and Test cricket for the SMH, before becoming in 1986 the newspaper’s chief rugby union writer. He was the SMH and Sun-Herald’s chief rugby union correspondent between 1987 and 2012, and has always maintained a strong cricket interest. Between 2012 and 2018, he left the SMH to become the Australian rugby correspondent for ESPN. In February 2019, he returned to the SMH as a sporting columnist. This is his fourth cricket-related book.

‘It was simpler then’. ‘We had more fun back then’. ‘Everyone could afford a house’.

In The Land Before Avocado, Richard Glover takes a journey to an almost unrecognisable Australia. It’s a vivid portrait of a quite peculiar land: a place that is scary and weird, dangerous and incomprehensible, and, now and then, surprisingly appealing. It’s the Australia of his childhood. The Australia of the late ’60s and early ’70s.

Let’s break the news now: they didn’t have avocado.

It’s a place of funny clothing and food that was appalling, but amusingly so. It is also the land of staggeringly awful attitudes — often enshrined in law — towards anybody who didn’t fit in. The Land Before Avocado will make you laugh and cry, feel angry and inspired. And leave you wondering how bizarre things were, not so long ago.

Richard Glover has written a number of bestselling books, including Flesh Wounds and The Mud House. He writes regularly for the Sydney Morning Herald and The Australian, and presents the comedy program Thank God It’s Friday on ABC Local Radio.

Captain James Cook first set sail to the Pacific in 1768 — 250 years ago. These vast waters, one third of the earth’s surface, were uncharted — but not unknown. A rich diversity of people and cultures navigated, traded; lived and fought here for thousands of years. Before Cook, the Pacific was disconnected from the power and ideas of Europe, Asia and America. In the wake of Cook, everything changed.

The Pacific with Sam Neill is the book of the documentary series Uncharted, in which actor and raconteur Sam Neill… takes a deeply personal, present-day voyage to map his own connection to Captain Cook. It is also a contemporary journey in Cook’s footsteps, engaging the past and present in both modern and ancient cultural practice and peoples.

In Wild Journeys Bruce Ansley retraces the path of the doomed surveyor John Whitcombe across the Southern Alps, follows the raiding party of the northern chief Te Puoho along the West Coast, sails around New Zealand’s northern and southern capes; walks through the Valley under the Two Thumb Range to the mythical Mesopotamia; drives from Waiheke to Wanaka (in a hurry), sets off on a hunt for the South Island’s Grey Ghost, looks deep into the heart of volcanic New Zealand and tracks our most unlikely hero, the prison escapee George Wilder.

Bruce Ansley is one of New Zealand’s pre-eminent storytellers. For more than two decades he was a writer for New Zealand Listener, before becoming a full-time author in 2007. He has held fellowships at Oxford and Cambridge Universities, and has won a number of journalism awards. He is author of ten books, including Coast: A New Zealand Journey which won Best Illustrated Non-Fiction Book at the New Zealand Post Book Awards in 2014. His other books include A Fabled Land: The Story of Canterbury’s Famous Mesopotamia Station and Wild Roads: A New Zealand Journey.

On 15 June 1862, a gang of bushrangers held up a gold escort at Eugowra, just east of Forbes, NSW. They escaped with a pile of cash and 77 kilograms of gold, worth about $10 million today. It is the largest gold robbery in Australian history.

In this riveting re-creation of the events, James Phelps finally tells the full story of how Frank Gardiner, Ben Hall, John O’Meally, Johnny Gilbert, Henry Manns, Alexander Fordyce, John Bow and Dan Charters planned and executed the robbery - and what happened to all that gold. Australian Heist is a thrilling, fast-paced and thoroughly modern take on one of the most extraordinary episodes in the nation's history, by Australia's number-one true-crime writer.

James Phelps is an award-winning senior reporter for the Daily Telegraph and Sunday Telegraph in Sydney. Following the bestselling Dick Johnson: The Autobiography of a TrueBlue Aussie Sporting Legend, James returned to his roots to delve into the criminal underworld with a series of crime books: Australia's Hardest Prison: Inside the Walls of Long Bay Jail; Australia's Most Murderous Prison; and Australia's Toughest Prisons: Seriates. James is a twice V8 Supercar media award winner and a former News Awards 'Young Journalist of the Year' and 'Sport Reporter of the Year'.

When Ned Kelly's mother, Ellen, arrived in Melbourne in 1841 aged nine, British convict ships were still dumping their unhappy cargo in what was then known as the colony of New South Wales. By the time she died aged ninety-one in 1923, having outlived seven of her twelve children, motor cars plied the highway near her bush home north of Melbourne, and Australia was a modern, sovereign nation.

Like so many pioneering women, Ellen, the wife of a convict, led a life of great hardship. Born in Ireland during a time of entrenched poverty and sectarian violence, she was a mother of seven when her husband died after months in a police lock-up. She lived through famine and drought, watched her babies die, listened through the prison wall while her eldest son was hanged and saw the charred remains of another of her children gibed in a shoot-out with police. Through it all, ‘the notorious Mrs Kelly’ survived as best she could, like so many pioneering women of the time.

By bestselling biographer Granthalee Kieza, Mrs Kelly is the astonishing story of one of Australia’s most notorious women and her wild family, but it’s also the story of the making of Australia, from struggling colony and backwater to modern nation.

Granthalee Kieza is a prize-winning writer for The Courier Mail and Sunday Mail newspapers. He was a finalist in the 2011 Walkley Awards for Excellence in Journalism. This is his eighth book.

The story of the Clipper ships, and the tens of thousands of migrants they brought to the Australian colony of the nineteenth century, is one of the world’s great migration stories.

For anyone who travelled to Australia before 1850, it was a long and arduous journey that could take as much as four months. With the arrival of the clipper ships, and favourable winds, the journey from England could be done in a little over half this time. It was a revolution in travel that made the clipper ships the jet airlines of their day, bringing keen and willing migrants ‘down under’ in record time, all hell bent on making their fortune in Australia.

The FEEL GOOD GUIDE TO MENOPAUSE
DR NICOLA GATES
How understanding the brain-hormone connection can help women to navigate menopause.
February 2019 | 288pp | 234x153mm | Paperback | ISBN 9780733335678

Although women know how to run major corporations and can travel in space, there is little understanding of an event that inevitably awaits them – menopause – and a lack of practical knowledge about how to best navigate this natural passage in life. Menopause can impact a woman’s health, relationships, daily functioning, career, mood and emotions, and can profoundly impair her quality of life. Understanding the connection between hormonal changes in the female body, the brain and, indeed, the gut provides us with the fundamentals for transitioning through what can be a challenging – if not overwhelming – time for many women. By breaking the silence that surrounds menopause, The Feel Good Guide to Menopause aims to reduce the potential for negative impact, build understanding, compassion and reassurance, and significantly improve the mental and physical well-being of women.

July 2019 | 240pp | 210x135mm | Paperback | ISBN 9781460758014

Are you a parent struggling to set healthy, effective rules around technology in your house? Or have you already set clear parameters but find yourself outmanoeuvred by your tech-savvy kids? Are you sick of hearing technology experts throw statistics and research at you with few practical parenting strategies on offer? Brad Marshall, The Unplugged Psychologist, is on the front line helping parents deal with the dominance of gaming and problematic technology use. His clinic, the Internet Addiction Clinic @ KidSpace, was one of the first in Australia established to help young children, teenagers and families whose lives are totally torn apart by technology.
The Tech Diet for your Child and Teen provides real-life strategies that any parent can implement to create a healthy balance and put your kids’ development first. Based on solid psychological research explaining why screen addiction is so powerful, Brad’s jargon-free advice gives a clear plan for parents who have had enough and are serious about changing the way their kids use and interact with technology.

NURTURING YOUR NEW LIFE
HEIDI SZE
Words and recipes for the new mother.
October 2019 | 320pp | 210x170mm | Paperback | ISBN 9781460757307

For many first-time mothers expectations about their new life come from idealised images on TV, in magazines or online. It’s a far cry from what it actually involves: lack of sleep, time and control – and total dependency on you by another. Becoming a mother brings extraordinary physical and emotional changes to a woman’s life, but it also taps into deep instincts. Heidi Sze’s message is to surrender to the changes, reject the guilt and accept the imperfect reality of this new life. Adjusting expectations and being true to your unique needs will bring a comfort, joy and peace that slavishly following rules, imposing unreachable standards and accumulating rooms of gadgets are unlikely to do.

As women go through this profound transition, it is crucial that they identify their support needs and trust their intuition. This book will help women do just that. Many people know Heidi from her blog Apples Under My Bed and Instagram account gheeippapples. Her beautiful words and special focus here on nourishment – with special new-life recipes – will help mothers – and fathers – nurture with reassurance the new life in their hands.

Heidi Sze is a mother, writer and dietitian, specialising in pre- and postnatal nutrition. She lives in Australia with her husband and two children. On her blog, Apples Under My Bed, Heidi writes about everyday life, reflections on motherhood and the recipes that nourish her family.

Anxiety and worry rob us of the ability to think clearly, enjoy life and function effectively at home, at work and in social situations. One in five Australians have an anxiety disorder at some point in their lives, and many more have periods of debilitating anxiety.

Using proven strategies from a range of psychological approaches, including cognitive behavioural therapy (CBT), acceptance and commitment therapy (ACT), and metacognitive therapy (MCT), No Worries explains how worry and anxiety operate, and will equip you with the tools you need to release worry and anxiety. With plenty of real-life examples, exercises and experiments, this book will teach you to:

- identify and release unhelpful thinking and safety behaviours that perpetuate worry
- recognise and let go of worry thoughts
- effectively deal with the unpleasant physical sensations that can arise from worry and anxiety
- learn to manage panic attacks

Take back control of your life with these valuable techniques, and free yourself from debilitating worry and anxiety.

Sarah Edelman is a clinical psychologist, author and trainer. She has published many articles in professional and mainstream journals, and is the author of the bestselling book on CBT, Change Your Thinking.

Although most of us pay little attention to our emotions, feelings like anxiety, anger, frustration, guilt and sadness can have a huge impact on our lives. Sometimes we get stuck in negative ways of thinking that perpetuate these emotions, even when what is happening in our lives is not that bad.

Teenage years can be a particularly challenging time. There are lots of changes happening – physical, social and mental, and emotional ups and downs are common. Upsetting emotions can lead to self-defeating behaviours, such as avoidance, irritability, withdrawal and brooding.

While our emotions seem to have a life of their own, there are actually lots of things we can do to affect them. Learning skills to manage unhelpful emotions can make our lives much easier, now and into the future. They can also help us to get back on track more quickly when things go wrong.

Cognitive Behavioural Therapy (CBT) is an approach used by therapists all over the world to help people learn to think in a healthy and balanced way, and to bounce back more quickly from stressful events. It provides techniques to help overcome stress, negative emotions and self-defeating behaviour.

Bestselling author of Change Your Thinking, Sarah Edelman, and Louise Remond, a specialist in therapy for teenagers, explain how to use these skills with clarity and compassion.

February 2019 | 256pp | 234x153mm | Paperback | ISBN 9780733339462

In 12 Ways Your Child Can Get the Best Out of School, Adrian Piccoli, the Director of the UNSW Gonski Institute for Education, sets out clearly what every parent needs to know to ensure their kids have the quality education they deserve. Jargon-free and easy-to-understand, the book will empower parents with knowledge and advice on all the key issues around today. With simple and concise advice, case studies, Dos and Don’ts and much more, it’s for every parent – private or public school – who wants to help their kids flourish and do well, and that’s most of us. No other book on the market offers parents such clear and comprehensive information on schools and an education.

Adrian Piccoli served as a Member of NSW parliament for 19 years, and was the NSW Minister for Education for 6 years until 2017. Widely respected by the Australian education sector, he led the political campaign to reform school funding in Australia and has strengthened and enhanced the teaching profession in NSW through his ‘Great Teaching, Inspired Learning’ reforms. In 2017 Mr Piccoli was made a Professor of Practice in the School of Education at UNSW and a Fellow of the Australian Council for Educational Leaders. Mr Piccoli is currently the Director of UNSW’s Gonski Institute for Education.

He lives in Griffith with his wife and their two young children.

CHANGING MINDS

MARK CROSS & CATHERINE HANRAHAN

This compassionate and insightful guide will demystify mental health issues and help anyone concerned about themselves or loved ones.

March 2016 | 304pp | 234 x 153mm | Paperback | ISBN 9780733334733

Leading psychiatrist Dr Mark Cross, from the acclaimed ABC TV series ‘Changing Minds’, feels strongly that everyone should have easy access to information they can trust about common mental health problems, whether for themselves or to help family or friends.

The result is this empowering guide which aims to cut through the myths and taboos about mental health and offers clear, practical help. It covers a wide range of common issues, from bipolar, anxiety and personality disorders, to depression, post-traumatic stress and schizophrenia, and includes how to get help, what treatments are available and how to live successfully with a mental illness. Most importantly, it shows how carers and families can help a loved one through what can be a very challenging time.

Mark Cross is currently senior psychiatrist at Campbelltown Hospital, running the youth ward and community team. He is also a consultant psychiatrist at Northside Macarthur Clinic. Mark features in the top-rating ABC documentary series, ‘Changing Minds’.

Catherine Hanrahan has a biological science PhD and is a health journalist and ABC researcher who also worked on ‘Changing Minds’.

This completely revised and expanded edition will empower you with the knowledge and skills to recognise and respond to your sick or injured child – with confidence.

Unlike other First Aid manuals, Sarah takes real situations and combines them with her wealth of experience to make A Life, A Finger, A Pea Up a Nose: a thoroughly entertaining read as well as a treasure trove of sound advice.

Easy-to-follow advice, nurse and parent-tested methods and clear illustrations will show you how to: assess a situation and stay calm, treat an injury in a child-friendly way, recognise the warning signs that show your child has a serious illness, know when to get help, make your home child-safe, and keep yourself in peak condition so you can care for your kids.

This is the one book you’ll hopefully never need. Read it now. You never know – the child whose life you save could be yours.

Sarah has over 15 years experience in Paediatric Emergency Nursing, and has a passion for all things paediatrics. With a love of lifelong learning, Sarah has a Masters Degree in Clinical Practice, and has worked in various roles in Paediatric Emergency Departments including Nurse Unit Manager and Clinical Nurse Specialist. Sarah founded CPR Kids in 2012, and she has made it her mission to empower every person who cares for children with lifesaving skills of Paediatric CPR, First Aid and recognition of the sick child.

From the author of 21 Days to a Happier Family and 9 Ways to a Resilient Child, 10 Things Every Parent Needs to Know draws on positive psychology to give simple and effective strategies for the key issues parents of 2-12 year olds confront in everyday family life.

Parenting expert Dr Justin Coulson shares his secrets of effective attention, communication and understanding; how to discipline effectively and set limits; and how to manage hot-button issues such as sibling conflict, chores, school and screens – yet still have fun as a family.

After his first child became a toddler, Justin Coulson realised he wasn’t the dad he wanted to be. To learn more about parenting, he quit a successful radio broadcasting career and started studying, eventually completing a PhD in Positive Psychology and Parenting. Justin is an honorary fellow at the Centre for Positive Psychology at the University of Melbourne. Justin now lives with his wife and six daughters in Brisbane, Queensland, and travels Australia constantly, giving talks to parents, teachers and professionals. He is the author of 21 Days to a Happier Family and 9 Ways to a Resilient Child.

Everyone wants their family to be happy, but so much gets in the way – work stress, commitments and our children’s challenging behaviour are some of the usual suspects. Less obvious obstacles are our own habits and expectations, a reactive parenting style, and even a lack of clarity about what makes a family truly happy. As a result, families often seem fragmented, stressed and out of control.

Kidspot parenting expert Justin Coulson knows how to make families happier. In this book, he combines cutting-edge insights from positive psychology with classic psychological research to help parents identify and develop habits that will strengthen their family. In his trademark warm and empathic style, Justin covers topics like finding the most effective parenting style for your child, getting relationships right and how that leads to effective discipline, using mindfulness in parenting, being emotionally available to your children – and so much more.

Do your kids sometimes make you feel your head is going to explode? Ever yelled at them until you were hoarse? Do you have days when you feel like making a run for the airport?

This is the perfect book to help your family make it through the crucial first decade or so and still enjoy each other’s company. Practical commonsense answers and real life examples, logical and realistic strategies, and innovative behaviour modification tools that work in the real world – all from a parent and family therapist who’s seen almost everything there is to see. This book is an essential guide for the struggling parent who knows family life can and should be better.

Once you’ve negotiated the terrors of toddlerhood and the perils of primary school you think you’ve got a pretty good handle on this parenting thing – then along comes Mother Nature with her horribly hormones and suddenly you’re starting to wonder if this raging bundle of contradictions screaming at you was switched in the night by evil aliens.

With his now trademark humour and pragmatic commonsense approach, Nigel debunks the politically correct nightmare of perfect parenting and argues for sanity first – yours – and reclaiming the ground parents have lost.

Why are boys so noisy? Why do they break things? Why are they fascinated with things that can burn, blind and cripple them? All this and more is revealed, with some surprising conclusions about what we think we know about the differences between boys and girls, and a few tips at sacred cows. With practical examples and case studies to help all mothers raising boys, there’s particular comfort for single mothers worried about the lack of men in their son’s lives. Whether you’re a mum, a harassed grandparent, or a guardian raising boys, this book’s for you.

Why do girls giggle so much? Why are they so scary once they hit puberty? How can I stop her from marrying an idiot? All this and more is revealed, with some surprising conclusions about what we think we know about the differences between girls and boys, and taking a few bulls by the horns along the way. With practical examples and case studies to help all fathers raising girls, there’s particular comfort for single fathers worried about the lack of women in their daughters’ lives. Whether you’re a dad, a harassed grandparent, or a guardian raising girls, this book’s for you.

Do you want to feel in control of your life without being consumed by the weight of your pain? Manpower at the workplace, workplace stress, the pressures of elite sport took to get well. Williams tells of his struggles with mental illness, later diagnosed as Bipolar Disorder, and the constant dialogue in his head telling him he worthless and should die. Joe took up professional boxing and got clean. Former NRL player, world boxing title holder and proud Wiradjuri First Nations man Joe Williams was always plagued by negative dialogue in his head, and the pressures of elite sport took their toll. Joe eventually turned to drugs and alcohol to silence the dialogue, before attempting to take his own life in 2012. In the aftermath, determined to rebuild, Joe took up professional boxing and got clean. Defying the Enemy Within is both Joe’s story and the steps he took to get well. Williams tells of his struggles with mental illness, later diagnosed as Bipolar Disorder, and the constant dialogue in his head telling him he worthless and should die. In telling his powerful story, Joe Williams is helping to dismantle the stigma associated with mental illness. His courage and resilience have inspired many, and this book will only add to the great work he’s doing.'

EDUCATING GEN WI-FI
GREG WHITBY
How we can make schools relevant for 21st Century learners.

February 2011 | 256pp | 134x210mm | Paperback | ISBN 97807333328701

Just a generation ago, school was a simple affair: students learned from set texts, graduated and got a job. Now, when almost every child has access to vast networks of information through computers, phones and social media, there is no longer a wrong and right way to learn, no longer a single model of teaching, not even a familiar classroom environment. So where does that leave students and the people in charge of their education?

Greg Whitby has spent 30 years teaching in schools and writing about education. In this provocative book that schools are often too slow to respond to change and too quick to condemn the new. But in order to engage students, it is vital that educators re-think everything they have been taught. Educating Gen WI-FI throws open the debate about education and offers up some thought provoking questions and answers.

Adolescent boys – they seem to disappear into another world where they barely communicate. How can parents and schools understand them and help them through this difficult and dangerous time?

Celia Lashlie has some of the answers. After years working in the prison service she knows what can happen when boys make the wrong choices. During the recent Good Man Project she talked to 180 classes of boys throughout New Zealand, and what she found was surprising, amusing and, in some cases, frightening. In this funny, honest, no-nonsense book Celia Lashlie reveals what goes on inside the world of boys. With clarity and insight she offers parents practical and reassuring advice on raising their boys to become good, loving, articulate men.

Bestselling author of The Journey to Prison and He’ll Be OK, Celia has been a prison officer and prison manager, and has a degree in anthropology and Maori. Mother, Nana, sought-after speaker and social commentator, she now works in a freelance capacity and lives in Wellington.
